IN HER ROOM.

Murderer Wolgomott Found Dead in Judea Gilson's Apartment.

Returned to the Scene of His Crime to End His Life.

He Gashed Himself With a Razor and Then Used a Revolver.

He Left a Badly Written Note Explaining the Cause of His Doed.

DISCOVERY BY LOUIS SUMMERFIELD, MRS. GILSON'S BROTHER-IN-LAW.

The Murderer and His Victim Now Lay Side by Side in the Morgue—Wolgommott's Actions Since the Murder Story of Mrs. Murphy, an Eye-Witness of the Fatal Struggle.

In the same room in which Wm. Wolgomott yesterday morning murdered his divorced wife, Judea Gilson, by cutting her throat, his dead body, horribly mutilated by his own hand, was found this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Louis Summerfield, Mrs. Gilson's brother-in-law, who had occasion to visit the late home of the murdered woman.

Wolgommott must have sneaked into the house some time last night, and entering the room in which he killed his wife, locked the door, and putting down the folding bed, undressed himself and went to bed. Both of his wrists were cut, a large and ugly gash was inflicted in the left side of the throat and a bullet wound of the left breast indicated that a leaden missile had ploughed its way to the region of the heart.

SUMMERFIELD'S DISCOVERY.

This afternoon when Summerfield entered the house he found the door of the room in which his sister-in-law was murdered locked. He threw his weight against it and the lock catch burst off. As Summerfield stepped into the room the glassy eyes of the dead murderer seemed to stare full into his face. He could stand no more. He jumped down the stairs three at a jump and was soon in the Four Courts Police Station. Officers McMamara and McGlynn were sent to the scene and they entered the room. They found the dead man as though he were asleep. The bed clothing was pulled up around his face and neck as though in peaceful slumber. They pulled the clothes down and found his arms, covered with blood, folded across his breast, also covered with blood. The body was cold in death, and the suicide had been committed as quietly as the murder of the day previous. The remains were removed to the Morgue in the patrol wagon and the effects of the dead man were taken to the police station.

THE LETTER FOUND.
The following letter was found:

The cause of this awful deed is that my wife's sister and her children won't let me live with her; now they are not very well of by it, God forgive.

Please let my mother know, Mrs. A. Reed at St. Joe, Mo., care A. Koss.

F. S.—I would not kill my wife so-day the reason is I thought we would live together soon. I came down to see her last eve. She went to the show. If I had a gun would have killed the man instead. It worried me so that I could not help it.

The letter was not signed. Attached to the bottom of the letter by a postage stamp was a piece of printed poetry. Another postage stamp was attached to the top of the letter, which was written on a long, narrow piece of paper as though it had been cut or torn out of a blank book.

BLOOD ON THE ROOF.
It was discovered to-day after the body was found that Wolgomott either never left the building yesterday after killing his wife or returned last night. Some think that he was on the roof of the building while the officers were searching the premises, and that he inflicted at least some of the wounds on himself while on the roof, as several large pools of blood were found on the roof, which is flat. He gained access to the roof through the chimney, using the shelves as steps and emerging onto the roof through a skylight which was over the pantry. Another theory is that he returned last night and going on the roof shot and cut himself and then crawled down into the house before he became too weak from loss of blood and going into the room in which he had killed his wife crawled into bed and laid down to die. His form was carefully covered with the bedclothes when found.

ESCAPED CAPTURE.
It developed to-day that about the time the murder had been committed Wolgomott walked east on Clark and proceeded up-stairs to his room in the residence of Mrs. Storrs, on the third floor of 1107 Clark avenue. The officers received the information that he was in his room and proceeded to the place, but Wolgomott was not there. It is thought he observed the approach of the officers and made his escape through the door by scaling sheds and fences, which are within easy access to the house. It was shortly after this incident that he endeavored to borrow $1 from Billy Mc. Donald, a First Ward politician in Senator Peter R. Morrissey's saloon. He was quite excited on this occasion.

About 9 o'clock on the same day he tried to dispose of a light suit of clothes to Louis Hoerner, who conducts a saloon on the north-east corner of Eleventh and Clark avenue.

MRS. MURPHY'S STORY.

Louisa Murphy, a Mexican woman, in the employ of Matron Harris, is about the only person outside the murderer himself who last saw Mrs. Judea Gilson. Mrs. Murphy was cleaning a window on the top floor of the Four Courts directly opposite the room in which Gilson's body was found. She happened to be looking into the street at the time and suddenly her attention was attracted to the sight of a man who was standing in the extreme upper Missouri Valley no marked change in his countenance. Mrs. Murphy kept looking the window and suddenly saw Mrs. Gilson right against it almost. The man she could not identify, "it was like me," continued Louisa, "that the two were fighting. It seemed to me that he was striking at the sides, by throwing both his hands up in the air. It looked as though she was trying to protect her face. I heard a sharp sound in his position. In the window she remained in her position for several seconds, but fighting as they must have been, he had ceased. There seemed to be no noise whatever. This woman had broken the window-pane with her hand it might have saved her life. At any rate I suppose she would have watched the man, but I did not see him looking for I saw him look up at me and then my view was cut off. He reached out his hand and touching the pane pulled it across the window so that I could see no more. I saw no weapon of any kind, but I heard a little while after I had seen them fighting in the window that the murder was discovered."

Deputy Coroner Robling has not as yet set the date when the inquest will be held.

The remains of the murdered woman are still in the Morgue in an ice box. No arrangements have reached the Four Courts officials as to what disposition will be made of the remains.

The poor hearbroken orphans were taken care of by their sister, Mrs. Dolly Summerfield, to-day.

FIGHT IN A DISPUTABLE HOUSE.

Edward Steed and Wm. Doyle, two hack-drivers, got into a fight this morning about 1 o'clock, with the inmates of the disputable house, 1225 Pine street. During a scuffle a stray cuspidor struck Doyle in the mouth, breaking his nose. He was arrested Doyle, Steed, Kelli Wells and Jessie Huston, charged with disturbing the peace.

Doyle and Steed were arrested earlier in the night at the Union Depot by Sergt. O'Malley and Officer Corcoran on a charge of disorderly conduct.

His son, Walter Pritch, who is a messenger at the Union Depot.

WANTED IN SEATTLE.

Chief Harris to-day received a telegram from Prosecuting Attorney Miller of Seattle, Wash., stating that Rebel George, alias Knowlton, is wanted there and asking that he be held. The process of securing regular bail is now under way at Seattle, and other officers are enroute to the city. The prisoner referred to in the telegrams was arrested here on Saturday last and by Detective Frank on Sunday.

Doyle and Steed were arrested earlier in the night at the Union Depot by Sergt. O'Malley and Officer Corcoran on a charge of disorderly conduct.

His son, Walter Pritch, who is a messenger at the Union Depot.

DISCOVERED IN A DISPUTABLE HOUSE.

George Thorhill, a laborer, aged 31, was found last night suffering from knife-wounds on the head and under the arm. Officer Grunin of the Fifth District took charge of the man and had him removed to his home, 2217 Wash street. It was learned that Thorhill had gotten into a dispute with a man named Bowes, who was a cook and made off. Thorhill is not dangerous and wounded and does not care to prosecute.

TOO MANY MISTAKES.

Why Reed of Maine Criticizes the Tariff Amendments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—Mr. Reed of Maine authorizes the following concerning the tariff amendments made public to-day:

The preceding statement of the Senate Finance Committee of eighty-one pages of amendments, apparently more than one-half of them, is a delicate commitment to Mr. Wilson and the House of Representatives.

"There are dozens of big operators," he said, "who have offered what the men have asked, vis: The rate that was fixed several years ago, which averaged about 70 cents. Many of them have the assurances of their men that they will go to work, whatever the result of the conference, and the moment any of the large mines are put in operation the strike will be broken."

DEATH'S TRAIL

The Fate of a Hunting Party in the Wilds of Mexico.

Starved and Devoured by Coyotes in the Sierra Madre Mountains.

THEY HAD LOST THEIR WAY AND RAN OUT OF PROVISIONS.

Two Bodies Found by a Party of Searchers—Three of the Men Still Missing—No Doubt That They Perished in the Bleak and Desolate Region—Three Were Americans—The Story Told by an Engineer Returned from the State of Durango.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 8.—Francis Murphy, an American engineer and mining man, returned to this city from Mazatlan, Mex., states that he was a member of a searching party that left Durango about five weeks ago to find the whereabouts of H. L. Denton, C. P. Hall, Frank Turnstall, Americans, and two Mexican guides, who started from Saltillo, State of Durango, on a prospecting and hunting expedition into the Sierra Madre Mountains. The men mentioned left Denver, Colo., some months ago in company with a Mr. Freeman, who is purported to belong in St. Louis, and two New York gentlemen. The three latter, together with an Indian guide and several Mexicans, arrived back at Saltillo before the expedition was sent in search of the companions, in a half-starved and badly used up condition. They report that they had run short of provisions in the mountains, lost their way, and became separated from Denton, Hall and Turnstall and the balance of their party.

A relief party was immediately organized; Murphy, two American miners, and a number of Mexicans constituted the searchers.

The bleak and almost inaccessible parts of the Sierra Madre range were explored. In a ravine nearly forty miles from Saltillo, a camping outfit belonging to the missing men was discovered. A blind trail was followed for ten miles over the most rugged and inhospitable part of the mountain region. At one point a pole had been driven into the ground to which had been fastened a torn shirt and a piece of paper on which was printed with a pencil the words: "Out of provisions, no water; have struck out for the foot of this canyon."

Five miles in a westerly direction from this signal the bodies of Denton and Hall were found lying on their backs. Several camp utensils, a Winchester rifle and a number of cartridges were scattered near the spot. The bodies were partly devoured by coyotes, but were easily identified. The clothing had nearly all been torn from Hall's body. Denton's remains were badly disfigured. The remains of the two men were buried with solemn ceremonies and a mound of stones raised over them. No further time was then lost in pushing the hunt for Turnstall and the Mexicans. The searching party was divided, one half going northward and the other southward. A blind-trailed the north-bound party into a part of the mountains that could not be easily traversed, and the searchers were forced to turn back. The trail was becoming rough and the water supply too far remote for safety. The other party was enabled to continue in finding any trace of Turnstall, although it remained out for nearly ten days.

It is supposed that all of the missing men have died of starvation.

Three in a Swollen Stream.

JACKSON, Tenn., May 8.—About dark last evening Dr. C. A. Manley, a leading citizen and one of the most prominent physicians of this section, was returning from a professional visit with his two little sons, in a buggy, to his home at Medon, Tenn., ten miles south of this city, and in attempting to cross a swollen stream, the horses became so frightened that they ran away, and the buggy was swept away by the swift current. One of the two, 5 years old, was drowned. The doctor in rescuing his son, however, was able to save him, and was taken from the stream in unconscious condition. He is still unconscious, and his life is almost despaired of. The horse and buggy has been stranded together. The body of the boy has not yet been recovered.

Judge Edmunds having been disqualified. The State is asked to try the three first and leave the four cases charging Bogard with embossing a large amount from the Western Union Building and Loan Association, to be tried later.

HAD A BURGLAR'S OUTFIT.

TWO MEN ARRESTED AT AN EARLY HOUR FOR AN ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

This morning about 2 o'clock Officer Nochan of the Second District was walking on Broadway when he saw two men walking away from the door of Simon Rothhaar's clothing store, 2100 South Broadway. The two men's suspicious actions attracted his attention, and he walked up to them and placed them under arrest. He brought them to the Second District Police Station, where it was learned that on searching them they were possessed of tools fit for the use of expert burglars. One of them had a dark lantern, brush and saw, the other a hand wrench and a crowbar. The two men stated that they had no key to the door, but had obtained entrance to the cellar and admitted "boring holes in the door, hoping in this way to get into the shop."

Both men are about the same age, 20 years. New claims to be a waiter in a restaurant on West Broadway. They said that they had been sent to the door of the clothing store to obtain a key to the door, but had not been granted entrance. New and his companion had gained entrance to the cellar and admitted "boring holes in the door, hoping in this way to get into the shop."

KYLE FOR PRESIDENT.

The South Dakotan Being Groomed by the Populists.

SIOUX CITY, S. D., May 8.—Senator Kyle of South Dakota is being groomed for the Populist nomination for President.

SWISS WATCH INDUSTRY.

SUFFERING FROM SEVERE DEPRESSION—DUE TO GENERAL STAGNATION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—George Glavin, United States Consul at Basle, Switzerland, reports to the State Department that the Swiss watch industry is suffering from severe depression. This country has always been the principal competitor of the United States in the production of watches, and is still so, in spite of the mechanical perfection of the American watch and the wonderful organization of its factories.

The searching party was divided, one half going to the north and the other to the south. A blind-trailed the north-bound party into a part of the mountains that could not be easily traversed, and the searchers were forced to turn back. The trail was becoming rough and the water supply too far remote for safety. The other party was enabled to continue in finding any trace of Turnstall, although it remained out for nearly ten days.

IT IS SUPPOSED THAT ALL OF THE MISSING MEN HAVE DIED OF STARVATION.

Chief J. T. Janssen of Milwaukee, Wis., twenty minutes after leaving the Laclede's were occupying the first half-dozen rows of chairs gazing expectantly at Chief Seavy.

The latter informed them that a brief delay was unavoidable, but that Mayor Walbridge and Chief Harrigan would be present directly. At 10:15 Mayor Walbridge and Maj. Harrigan came in, and directly Chief Seavy called the convention to order and introduced Mayor Walbridge, who said in part:

THE MAYOR'S GREETING.

"My understanding is that police officers are men of few words. Recruits are instructed to keep eyes and ears open and mouths shut."

"I have been a member of the police force of St. Louis but a little more than a year, and my instructions are fresh in my memory. St. Louis like you—she is not boastful—but a city of deeds. She extends to you a welcome. Owing to the efficiency of our own Harrigan and of the police you are safe."

The address was vigorously applauded, considering the conservatism of the gathering.

CHIEF SEAVY'S ADDRESS.

Chief Seavy then said:

"Mr. Mayor, we thank you and we know we are going to have a good time. Strikes and the tramp nuisance of Commonwealers prevent the attendance of fifty of our number. We are glad that our organization meets the approval of the American police officials. This is a move in the right direction.

The present depression is attributed to general stagnation in trade rather than to any hostility towards Swiss watches.

FAILED TO GET HIS FORTUNE.

Story of Dr. W. A. Dow's Mythical Legacy in Scotland Recalled by His Death.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 8.—The death of Dr. W. A. Dow, the eccentric old physician, which occurred Sunday morning, recalls the story of his marriage in this city two years ago to Miss Jessie Roberts of the Roberts Mission, and his journey with his bride to Scotland in search of a rich legacy that was never to have been found.

Now 84 years old, some time in November, 1891, it was noise about the city that he was heir to a large fortune in Scotland, the land of his nativity. An attorney was engaged to find out the facts, and Dow was induced to give information that would lead to his securing the estate. At that time he was brought into prominence in Kansas City, and the name of the man who had taken the money contained long accounts of the probable wealth the old man would soon acquire.

Dow was apparently in a man of great repute in Boston, in which city he met Miss Jessie Roberts of the Roberts Mission at 106 East Third street. A short time later he married her on the day during the month of February, 1892, then went to Kansas City, Kan., and secured a marriage license, and were quietly married, though he had no money.

Chief J. T. Janssen of Milwaukee, Wis., twenty minutes after leaving the Laclede's were occupying the first half-dozen rows of chairs gazing expectantly at Chief Seavy.

The latter informed them that a brief delay was unavoidable, but that Mayor Walbridge and Chief Harrigan would be present directly. At 10:15 Mayor Walbridge and Maj. Harrigan came in, and directly Chief Seavy called the convention to order and introduced Mayor Walbridge, who said in part:

THE MAYOR'S GREETING.

"My understanding is that police officers are men of few words. Recruits are instructed to keep eyes and ears open and mouths shut."

"I have been a member of the police force of St. Louis but a little more than a year, and my instructions are fresh in my memory. St. Louis like you—she is not boastful—but a city of deeds. She extends to you a welcome. Owing to the efficiency of our own Harrigan and of the police you are safe."

The address was vigorously applauded, considering the conservatism of the gathering.

CHIEF SEAVY'S ADDRESS.

Chief Seavy then said:

"Mr. Mayor, we thank you and we know we are going to have a good time. Strikes and the tramp nuisance of Commonwealers prevent the attendance of fifty of our number. We are glad that our organization meets the approval of the American police officials. This is a move in the right direction.

The present depression is attributed to general stagnation in trade rather than to any hostility towards Swiss watches.

FAILED TO GET HIS FORTUNE.

DEFENSE. BOTH MUST HANG.

Two Congressmen to the Rescue of Coxey.

BRILLIANT CLOSING ARGUMENT FOR THE COMMONWEALERS.

A Picturesque Court Room—Marchant Brown in a Buckskin Suit With Silver Half-Dollar Buttons—The Administration forced by Pence—District Attorney Barney's sarcasm.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—Congressman Lee Pence of Colorado faced the Police Court jury to-day to make the closing argument on behalf of the commonwealers.

Marshal Carl Brown had changed the citizen's suit he wore yesterday for his more accustomed garb of frontier buckskin decorated with silver half dollars for buttons. "Gen." Coxey pulled his mustache rather nervously and Christopher Columbus Jones looked solemn.

Several popular congressmen were within the bar and several prominent attorneys had dropped in to hear Mr. Pence. He began by telling the jury that no one who had heard the evidence expected a conviction; no one wanted a conviction except the police officers who interested themselves remarkably in this case.

COXEY'S INTENTIONS.

"Mr. Coxey came to ask for the enactment of laws," said Mr. Pence, "which he believes, and thousands of others believe with him, will of its intrinsic advantage to the employment of the country. Coxey's plan might be the most foolish or the most wise of all plans for relief from the present state of affairs.

He had come to present it peacefully at the head of an orderly body of American citizens and had as much right to petition Congress as anybody else. Representatives of large interests coming here as paid lobbyists to corrupt Congress met with warm welcome, but were the men who came barefooted, tramping through the snow, led by a man who had the courage of his convictions, to be invited to the open doors of a jail built through taxation upon the citizens?" He commented upon the fact that for the first time this term the District Attorney himself, the representative of the Attorney-General, had come into police court to prosecute a case, thus showing that the administration was behind the prosecution.

"To-morrow Mr. Coxey, a free man by your verdict," said Mr. Pence, "will appear before the Labor Committee of Congress, under the resolution of Mr. Bell of Colorado, to devise means for giving employment to the unemployed, while the administration has no such plan."

CITY NEWS.

CRAWFORDSON's have no May Sale, June Sale or July Sale; no fake sales whatever, and do not ask the public to swallow the absurd story that they sell goods 25 cents below cost every month in the year. Crawfordson's have what is much better, the crowded store of the city. Crowded with cash buyers making themselves rich by buying goods at no loss to Crawford, but which, as everybody knows, are anywhere from 15 to 50 per cent less in price than are the prices of the great truth-tellers.

Awarded to His Brother.

The estate of a well-to-do negro farmer, named McKinney, has been sold at auction by the Circuit Court to his brother, who lives in Kentucky. McKinney left an estate valued at $40,000 to his physician, but the jury decided McKinney was of unsound mind when he made his will.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellency is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 100 and $1 bottles, it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
